Burning a field does expose some microorganisms to heat that could be lethal. But this is only in the top couple centimeters of soil. If practiced regularly, prescribed burns won't get so hot as to scorch the earth. Heat is largely determined by the amount of fuel present. If there is less fuel, there is less heat.

The Nazi book burnings were a campaign conducted by the German Student Union (the "DSt") to ceremonially burn books in Nazi Germany and Austria in the 1930s. The books targeted for burning were those viewed as being subversive or as representing ideologies opposed to Nazism. These included books written by Jewish, pacifist, religious, liberal, anarchist, socialist, communist, and sexologist ...
